Dear Max,

Your mother and I don't yet have the words to describe the hope you give us for the future, but we hope you will be happy and healthy so you can 26 enjoy the life ahead of you.

Like all 27, we want you to grow up in a world better than ours today.

Although headlines often focus on what's 28, in many ways the world is getting better. Health is 29. Poverty is shrinking. Knowledge is growing. People are connecting.

We will try our 30 to make the world a better place, not only because we love you, but also because we believe all children have the 31 to be loved and cared about.

But right now, the world doesn't always 32 the biggest chances and problems children today will 33 in the future. I will continue to work as Facebook's CEO for many, many years to come, 34 some problems are so important that we have to deal with them now.

Consider diseases. Today we spend about 50 times more money 35 people who are sick than we use in research so you won't get sick in the first place.

Medicine has only been a real science for less than 100 years, and we've already seen complete cures (治愈) for some diseases and good progress for others. 36 technology develops, we have a real chance at curing all or most of the other diseases in the next 100 years.

Curing diseases will 37 time. Over short periods of five or ten years, it may not seem like we're making a 38. But in the long run, trees planted now will grow, and one day, you or your children will see what we can only imagine: a world without diseases.

Max, we love you and really want to 39 the world a better place for you and all children. We wish you a life 40 with the same love, hope and joy you give us. We can't wait to see what you bring to this world.

Love,

Mom and Dad

第三部分 阅读理解 (共两节, 满分 30 分)

第一节 (共 10 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 20 分)

阅读下列短文, 从每题所给的四个选项(A、B、C 和 D)中, 选出最佳选项。答案写在答题卡上。注意: C 篇分 A、B 两种题型, A(易)种题型为客观题, B(难)种题型为主观题。

A

Henry Ford was born on a farm on July 30th, 1863. The farm was near the city of Detroit.

Henry was always interested in machines. He enjoyed fixing clocks. And he helped repair farm equipment. When Henry was sixteen years old, he left the family farm and went to Detroit to learn more about machines. Henry used what he learned from work to develop engines. In 1903, he was ready to start building cars for the public. On July 15th, 1903, a man named Doctor Pfenning bought the first car from the Ford Motor Company.

The sale to Doctor Pfenning was the beginning of a huge number of requests for Ford cars. By the end of March, 1904, almost 600 Ford cars had been sold. At the start of 1905, the Ford Motor Company was producing 25 cars each day.

Henry Ford was sure the future of the automobile industry was in a low-priced car for the general public. He said then, and many times after, "I want to make a car that anybody can buy."

In 1907, Henry Ford said: "I will build a motor car for the great mass of people. It will be large enough for the family, but small enough for one person to operate and care for. It will be built of the best materials. It will be built by the best men to be employed. And it will be built with the simplest plans that modern engineering can produce. It will be so low in price that no man making good money will be unable to own one."

41. Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. Henry Ford was born in the city of Detroit.
- B. Doctor Pfenning developed the first car.
- C. The Ford Motor Company was founded in 1905.
- D. Ford aimed to build cars for the general public.

42. What can we infer from the underlined sentence in the last paragraph?

- A. No one was making good money in the 1900s.
- B. The Ford cars will be at low prices.
- C. Henry Ford had made much money.
- D. Nobody will own a Ford car in the future.

B

My father suffered a disease once, but he was an optimist (乐天派). He wanted to do something to keep himself busy, so he became a volunteer at a children's hospital. Sometimes one or two kids would die. At this time he would tell the heart-broken parents of the children that he would be with their children in heaven and that he would look after them there.

There was a girl with a disease that paralyzed (瘫痪) her from the neck down. She couldn't do anything. My dad decided to help her with his true love. He started visiting her, bringing paints, brushes and paper. He began to put the paintbrush in his mouth to paint. He didn't use his hands. He would visit her whenever he could and paint for her. "You can do anything once you make up your mind to do it," he said. Finally, she began to paint using her mouth, too.

Later, my dad recovered and returned to work. He worked at the volunteer counter in the hospital. One day, he noticed the front door open. In came the little girl who had been paralyzed.

She was walking! She hugged my dad tightly and gave him a picture she had done using her hands. At the bottom it read: "Thank you for helping me walk again!"

After that my father often said love was more powerful than doctors.

43. Which words best describe the writer's father?

- A. Patient and funny.
- B. Strong and serious.
- C. Busy and hard-working.
- D. Kind and optimistic.

44. Why didn't the writer's father use his hands when painting for the girl?

- A. He was not good at drawing.
- B. He liked the taste of paint.
- C. He wanted to give the girl hope.
- D. He was an experienced artist.

45. What can we infer from the writer's father's words in Paragraph 1?

- A. He cared little about the children who died.
- B. He didn't think he would survive his disease.
- C. He must know those heart-broken parents.
- D. He used to work as a doctor in that hospital.

New Movies You Need to Know About This Month

Sherpa

Type: Documentary

Release Date: Friday, December 18, 2015

Duration: 96 mins

"Unforgettable"... "unbelievably absorbing". With praise like that, this doc looks like a can't-miss. Director Jennifer Peedom travelled to Nepal in 2014 to film the climbing season from the point of view of the local people — Sherpas. During the climbing, a disaster struck killing 16 Sherpas.

Sunset Song

Type: Drama

Release Date: Friday, December 4, 2015

Duration: 135 mins

The classic 1932 Scottish romantic novel is adapted into a beautiful film by Director Terence Davies. In only her second film role, London supermodel Agyness Deyn proves her talent for acting as the daughter of a farming family who must live on all by herself when both her parents are killed.

When Harry Met Sally

Type: Comedy

Release Date: Friday, December 11, 2015

Duration: 95 mins

The perfect — and we do mean perfect — romantic comedy returns. Billy Crystal and Meg Ryan play a pair of New Yorkers who meet at university, dislike each other on sight and spend the next 20 years gradually growing closer. The script, written by the much missed writer and director Nora Ephron, who died in 2012, is a joy.

Snoopy and Charlie Brown : The Peanuts Movie

Type: Animation

Release Date: Monday, December 21, 2015

Duration: 93 mins

The most loveable character of them all, Charlie Brown, is back on the big screen with a story written by Craig Schulz. His father Charles Schulz created the famous cartoon character — Snoopy in the 1950s. We really look forward to this hit, but is the 3D really necessary?

第二节 (共 5 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 10 分)

根据短文内容, 从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。答案写在答题卡上。

When you visit Paris, you don’t have to spend all of your time on museums and monuments, which are certainly worth visiting. 51 And you’ll find it beautiful.

Take a walk along the Seine River. 52 Lie on your back on the green grass. When you need some food and drink, try coffee and cakes at a sidewalk café. Have a conversation with a Parisian. This isn’t always easy, though. With such a large international population living in Paris, true natives are hard to find these days.

53 You may hear music from an outdoor concert nearby: classical, jazz, opera or those French folk songs. Parisians love their music. Don’t miss the highlight of Paris evening: eating out. Parisians are proud of their cooking. You need a special guidebook to help you choose one of the hundreds of excellent restaurants. 54 The cook likes to show his best dishes there. Remember, you haven’t tasted the true French food until you’ve dined at a French restaurant in Paris.

Your visit in Paris has only just begun. You’ve just started to discover the charm of this old city. May the rest of your journey be unforgettable. When it is time to leave, you will go unwillingly. 55

- A. You will say, “See you again, Paris.”
- B. Spend some time in a quiet park relaxing on an old bench.
- C. If you don’t know what to order, ask for the suggested menu.
- D. As evening comes to Paris, excitement rises over the river.
- E. You can take some time to look around and experience life in Paris.

第二节 书面表达 (满分 15 分)

One possible version:

Dear Mr. Brown,

I've learned that you need an editor for the "Music & Arts" section. I think I'm the right person.

Firstly, I am fond of and skilled at writing in English, and I am a big fan of the school newspaper. Secondly, I often listen to different styles of music and have a taste for many of them, which I think will be good for this section. Besides, my mother's work in the local gallery often allows me to be exposed to some great art works.

All things taken into consideration, I do believe editing the "Music & Arts" section would be a perfect job for me.

Yours,

Li Hua

W: Hello, Mr. Green. Come in and sit down.

M: Hello, doctor.

W: What's the matter?

M: I've got a bad backache.

W: Do you often have a backache?

M: No, I don't. I've never had one before.

W: When did it start?

M: About four days ago.

W: Well. Go home and rest in bed for two days, then you'll feel better.

M: Can you give me some medicine? It's very painful.

W: No, all you need is rest. Come back in five days and remember not to take any exercise.

M: Hi, Rose. Winter holidays are coming. What would you like to do?

W: Hello, Bill. Mother says we are going to Hainan to visit grandparents.

M: Your grandparents are in Hainan? Great! My uncle works there, too.

W: Have you been there before?

M: Sure, I've been there 3 times.

W: Oh, 3 times? Then you must know the place very well.

M: Not very well, but I took a lot of photos there.

W: Really? Can I have a look?

M: No problem. I'll get you some photos tomorrow.

Text 8

Mary and Mike are next door neighbors. They study in the same school, but they are in different classes. They often walk together to and from the school. One afternoon, they were walking home together when it started to snow. Mary quickly took out her umbrella from her handbag, opened it and said proudly, "My mother is really great. She can tell the future. This morning she said it would snow and told me to carry my umbrella with me." Mike smiled and walked close to her, and went under Mary's umbrella. Mike said to Mary even more proudly, "My mother is even greater than your mother in telling the future. She didn't let me carry my umbrella and told me to share with you."
