How do people spend their free time? People enjoy all kinds of indoor and outdoor activities in Britain.

Television

The most common leisure activity in the UK is watching television. The average viewing time is 25 hours one person every week. Almost all households have at least one television set. Many television programs are about wildlife, animals, holidays, cooking and gardening.

Radio

People in Britain listen to an average of 15 hours and 50 minutes of radio every week. The only radio is to listen to the "Top40". I like to find out who is the number one in the pop charts each week. "My parents listen to the radio in the mornings to when we are having our evening meals."

Entertaining

The second most popular activity in Britain is visiting or entertaining friends or relatives. "Mum and Dad go out and visit friends at least once a week. Sometimes My brother and I go, too. Every Tuesday after school, James and I go to see our Grandparents."

Eating out

Eating out has grown in popularity, with British people spending an average of £5.63 per person per week on food outside the home. "We go to McDonald's at least once a week. Sometimes we have a pizza delivery to us. Occasionally we will go to a restaurant."

What's your dream job? Have you ever thought of it. Maybe, you think it is really far. But in my mind, if you think about it, you will study better for your dreams. It's really perfect if you have the both worlds: do the job that you love while making so much money. But for most of us, a choice must be made between the two.

If you choose interest over money, you would do something you like and be happy with it. You believe there are always chances for money later in life and it is the most important to enjoy the job.

To be more realistic, you would pick one that pays better money. You have to support the home and you can't eat instant noodles a whole year. If you have a job that pays well, at least many of your financial problems would be solved. You wouldn't worry about you don't have money to buy something that you need.

If you are a newcomer, it is probably better to go for the job you think you will enjoy more first while you are young, since once you get stuck into something, you may feel it is too late to change. If you can get more experience in the field first, the money will come later on.

It is always easy to say choosing your interest over money if you do not have to worry about not having enough money to support yourself and your family. However, better money may be too stressful. Will you wake up being excited about going to work or getting a fat paycheck but hate your job every morning?

- () 36. According to Paragraph 2, you choose the job that you are interested in for _____.
A. it will bring you much money B. you can make a living
C. it will stay with you all the life
- () 37. Those who prefer the job that pays well are thought to be _____.
A. realistic B. selfish C. short-sighted
- () 38. If you are a new-comer in your job, you are advised to _____.
A. consider money first B. choose what you enjoy
C. get help from your parents
- () 39. By saying "Will you wake up being excited about going to work or getting a fat paycheck but hate your job every morning?" the author means that _____.
A. people usually get excited in the morning
B. some hate to do their jobs in the early morning
C. interest is what you first consider while choosing a job
- () 40. What can we learn from the passage?
A. We should not eat instant noodles.
B. When we are young, we don't have to raise our family.
C. Life is too short, so we'd better choose what makes us happy.
